

TikTok for Parents

TikTok is a social networking app that has captured the hearts of teenagers globally. It gives users the ability to watch, create and share short videos of up to 60 seconds. Young people lip-sync and dance to their favourite songs or music videos, and participate in viral challenges. Collaboration is a major feature, incentivising duets with other users with endless likes, comments and shares. TikTok is also known for its viral challenges. While many are intended to be fun, others have caused significant harm and embarrassment, like the #skullbreaker challenge. Any social platform that allows users to broadcast their content to a potential audience of millions can put users at risk of humiliation during a search to be #tiktokfamous.

TikTok's mission is to "inspire creativity and bring joy" and due to its capabilities for creating and sharing original content and facilitating an addictive aesthetic, it does just that. Celebrities, music stars and brands are flocking to the site, so chances are your child has or is thinking about getting a TikTok account. If your child is over 13 years of age they are legally able to create an account, but it's important to remember that others on the platform can be much older and invite you to see or participate in content that is for older teens or adults.

This guide provides practical tips on how to:

- Start the conversation
- Set accounts to private
- Turn off DMs
- Restrict duets
- Remove followers and block accounts
- Report inappropriate contact

How to start the conversation

If your child is over 13 years and wants to set up an account, you could start by looking at TikTok's Terms of Service and Community Guidelines together. The Community Guidelines have a series of "DO NOTs" around posting harmful or dangerous content; graphic or shocking content; discrimination or hate speech; nudity or sexual activity; child safety infringement; harassment or cyberbullying; impersonation; spam, scams, or other misleading content.

One of the ways to introduce this concept to your child is to ask them questions such as:

- "What sort of posts do you like on TikTok? What makes it funny?"
- "Why might you want to try doing something that you saw?"
- "Would this be OK for gran to see" is a good way to start talking about whether content is appropriate.
- "If your profile is public, anyone can look at your posts, photos, profile information, and interact with you. Let's change your profile to private so only people you know can see this about you." You could also try, "what might happen if someone you don't know got hold of your personal information?"
- "Sometimes people can send images or say things that are mean or upsetting. Let's have a look at how to block people."

Allow others to find me

When you create an account on TikTok it is automatically made public so it is your responsibility to engage all safety settings on your profile.

To ensure that you are uncontactable by strangers and/or predators, follow these steps:

Turning off Direct Messengers

1. Go to your profile
2. Tap the three dots in the top right corner

4. Tap "Who can send you messages"
5. Choose the setting you prefer (Everyone, Friends, or Off)

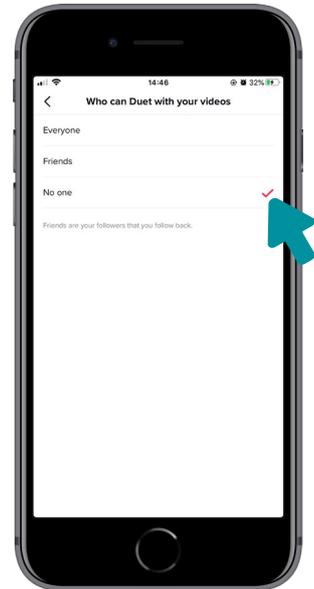

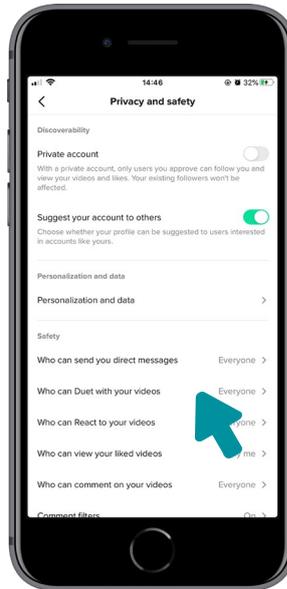

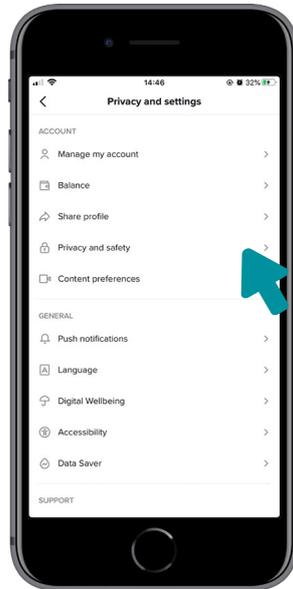

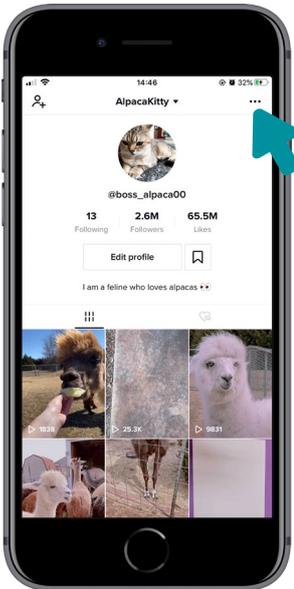

Restricting duets

Duets are a way to create videos with another user. This can be lots of fun but it could mean that predators are able to directly interact with your child, and produce (and publish) new content featuring both parties. It is possible to restrict duets to only your child's friends list, or disable the feature entirely.

To enable restrictions on who can create duet videos with you:

1. From your profile, open the Privacy and Safety settings
2. Tap "Who Can Duet With Me"
3. Choose the setting you prefer (Everyone, Friends, or Off)
